

Locating Pagan Clergy for Your Wedding

by Diana Rajchel

Congratulations, you've found the right person to jump the broom with. Now you only need to locate the right person to wrap your wrists together with a ribbon (or whatever action your ceremony requires), declare your union blessed, and sign the required piece of paper.

That is, if you want to make the whole thing official. Today, more and more Pagan couples perform their handfasting themselves, then opt for a legal ceremony with a judge later. A few more Pagan brides and grooms these days want a wedding more spiritual than that the old standby
